

War Games Notes

Things to keep in mind

1. Learning from the lessons of the catastrophe described
2. Preventing future misjudgments/miscalculations of the sort described in the book

My thoughts

- Maybe have a harsh limit on what countries are allowed to do
 - south korea, while they did have the right to respond on an attack on their country, it was excessive, and could have stopped at attacking the air base and not the commander's home
 - Talk about location of meeting rooms? I.e. how close they are in proximity to airports and stuff like that
